

Faculty Education Program (FEP)—Online Activities

Week 1—Introduction

Learning outcomes:

- Become familiar with the virtual learning space
- Get to know each other and build trust

Tasks:

1. Get to know the virtual learning space
2. Introduce yourself in the introduction forum
3. Complete the precourse self-assessment

Your first Task 1.1: Get to know the virtual learning space

Purpose: to become familiar with the virtual learning space and to understand its elements

Task: start by reading the “News” messages which are located in the center of the screen. Then have a look at the different features and functions of the learning space (discussion area, course builder, participant list etc.), if necessary consult the user guide.

Your second Task 1.2: Introduce yourself in the introduction forum

Purpose: to send your first message—visible to all participants

Task: spend a few moments thinking about what your first message will be and then click on Introduction. Open up the forum there and you will see a message to reply to. Good luck with posting your first message.

Respond: return to the introduction forum from time to time over the next few days and acknowledge your fellow participants' introduction messages.

Your third Task 1.3: Complete the precourse self-assessment

Purpose: for you to recognize where your gaps are, for us to prepare the live event according to your level of knowledge and gaps.

Task: please go to the assessment and open it. You will be asked 4 question per competency:

1. What is your present level of this ability?
2. What is your desired level of this ability?
3. and 4. knowledge questions related to this specific competency

Please answer the questions and click the “submit” button at the end. Your results will only be used in an overall report and not on an individual level.
